WOMENS' DAY CELEBRATION

International Women's Day (IWD) is celebrated annually on March 8. The day is not country, group or organization specific - and belongs to all groups collectively everywhere. International Women's Day is a global day celebrating the social, economic, cultural and political achievements of women. The day also marks a call to action for accelerating gender parity. The United Nations began celebrating the day in 1975.

No one government, NGO, charity, corporation, academic institution, women's network or media hub is solely responsible for International Women's Day. Many organizations declare an annual IWD theme that supports their specific agenda or cause, and some of these are adopted more widely with relevance than others. International Women's Day is a collective day of global celebration.

International Women's Day is all about unity, celebration, reflection, advocacy and action whatever that looks like globally at a local level. But one thing is for sure, International Women's Day has been occurring for well over a century and continues to grow from strength to strength.
